5. Waste Characterization Presentation [Pagal]

Board Comments/Action Items:

- Can we develop more targeted educational material for the commercial generators?
- Can we streamline C&D diversion education for all jurisdictions?
- Can we team with Recology for increased education?
- Can we setup E-Waste pickups for multi-family dwellings?
- How are gross tonnage numbers compared to previous years?
- Can we market the cost savings of the organics bin vs. the waste bin?
- We need to increase outreach to multi-family.
- Can we collaborate with the libraries and the chamber of commerce for educational materials?

- There is a large increase in vape pen disposal the needs to be addressed.

Public Comments:

Dan Noble – Paper bags are a good way to contain food scraps to help eliminate smell and bugs.

Celia Furber – Recology is working individually with multi-family unit to increase compliance and education. Also, the public can get smaller organics and recycling carts on request.

Marie Kneemeyer – Recyclables cannot be smaller than a baseball

ITEM: Resolution No. 2022-23, Making Findings and Determinations Under AB 361 for the Continuation of Virtual Meetings

I. RECOMMENDED ACTION / ALTERNATIVES TO RECOMMENDATION

Staff recommends that the Board adopt Resolution No. 2022-23, making findings and determinations under AB 361 for the continuation of virtual meetings.

II. BACKGROUND

On March 17, 2020, in the face of the COVID-19 pandemic, Governor Gavin Newsom issued Executive Order N-29-20 suspending certain provisions of the Ralph M. Brown Act in order to allow for local legislative bodies to conduct their meetings completely telephonically or by other electronic means.

The provisions in the Brown Act that were suspended by the Governor's Executive Order are contained in Government Code Section 54953(b)(3) and require that when teleconferencing is used, outside of a statewide emergency, that the following occur:

- An agenda is required to be posted at all locations, including any teleconference locations
- Each teleconference location must be identified on the actual agenda
- Each teleconference location shall be accessible to the public
- A quorum of the legislative body must be in the jurisdiction

With the Governor's Executive Order, the four above requirements were suspended, allowing councilmembers to not have to post an agenda at their teleconference location, not have to identify their location on the meeting agenda, not have to ensure public accessibility at the teleconference location, and the legislative body did not need a quorum in the jurisdiction. As the Board is aware, this allowed the Board meetings to be conducted by Zoom with Board members, staff, and the public all joining from remote locations.

The suspension of certain provisions of the Brown Act was further extended by the Governor on June 11, 2021 by the issuance of Executive Order N-08-21, which continued to allow for complete virtual meetings until September 30, 2021.

On September 16, 2021, the Governor signed AB 361, which allows legislative bodies to meet virtually provided there is a state of emergency declared by the Governor, and either (1) state or local officials have imposed or recommended measures to promote social distancing; or (2) the legislative body determines by majority vote that meeting in person would present imminent risks to the health and safety of attendees. As a result, if Zero Waste Sonoma desires to have virtual meetings on or after October 1, 2021, it must do so consistent with the requirements of AB 361.

III. DISCUSSION

AB 361 preserves many of the provisions of the earlier executive orders, including the suspension of the four teleconferencing requirements noted above, while also adding new requirements to the management of remote and teleconference public meetings in order to better achieve the levels of transparency that the Brown Act demands. Specifically, AB 361 imposes two new rules on remote public meetings:

1. Local governments and agencies hosting teleconference meetings in lieu of traditional in-person public meetings must permit direct public comment during the teleconference, and must leave open the opportunity for public comment until the comment period for a given item is closed during the ordinary course of the meeting. The opportunity to make public comment must be of a sufficient duration so as to allow actual public participation. Zero Waste Sonoma already complies with this requirement, so it presents no change to our current practice.
2. Any action by the governing body during a public teleconference meeting must occur while the agency is actively and successfully broadcasting to members of the public through a call-in option or an internet-based service option. If a technical disruption within the agency's control prevents members of the public from either viewing the meeting of the public agency, or prevents members of the public from offering public comment, the agency must cease all action on the meeting agenda until the disruption ends and the broadcast is restored. Action taken during an agency-caused disruption may be challenged as a violation of the Brown Act.

In order to continue to qualify for AB 361's waiver of in-person meeting requirements, the Board must, within thirty (30) days of its first meeting under AB 361, and every thirty (30) days thereafter, make findings that (a) state or local officials recommend measures to promote social distancing, or that (b) an in-person meeting would constitute an imminent risk to the safety of attendees. State officials at Cal-OSHA have, through the adoption of certain regulations, recommend measures to promote social distancing throughout the State. Additionally, on September 22, 2021, Sonoma County Health Officer Dr. Sundari Mase has issued a recommendation to continue online meetings (teleconference meetings) as those meetings promote social distancing, and "present the lowest risk of transmission of SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19." Dr. Mase recommended that if an agency holds in person meetings, a written safety protocol be developed and followed, requiring social distancing and that face masks be worn. Dr. Mase also recommended that for in person meetings, an agency consider holding meetings outdoors to reduce the risk of COVID-19 transmission.

The enclosed resolution makes the necessary findings for the Board, which is subject to the Brown Act, to continue with virtual meetings for the time being. As the Board meets on the third Thursday of every month, it is possible that more than 30 days may elapse between consecutive meetings. AB 361 is silent as to whether special meetings are required on a more frequent basis to keep up with the 30-day renewal of findings requirement, although scheduling such meetings would ensure strict compliance. Alternatively, if the Board does not meet within thirty days after its prior meeting, the Board should make its renewed findings at the beginning of its next meeting prior to any other action or discussion. Board staff will return to the Board with a resolution every meeting to allow for the continuance of virtual meetings for so long as the Board and staff believes that virtual meetings are necessary.

It is important to that AB 361 does not require Zero Waste Sonoma to continue with virtual meetings, but simply gives the Board that option. If at any time the Board desires to return to in person meetings, the Board can agendaize that topic for discussion and direct staff to initiate the transition back to in-person or hybrid meetings. However, at this time, Board staff is recommending adoption of the resolution to allow the Board to continue to be held remotely in order to ensure social distancing consistent with the recommendations of state and local officials.

IV. FUNDING IMPACT

V. CONCLUSION

Staff recommends that the Board adopt Resolution No. 2022-23, making findings and determinations under AB 361 for the continuation of virtual meetings.

A RESOLUTION OF THE SONOMA COUNTY WASTE MANAGEMENT AGENCY (ALSO KNOWN AS ZERO WASTE SONOMA) MAKING FINDINGS AND DETERMINATIONS UNDER AB 361 FOR CONTINUED VIRTUAL MEETINGS

WHEREAS, the Ralph M. Brown Act (Gov. Code § 54950 et seq.) generally requires local agencies meeting via teleconference, including through other virtual or electronic means, to provide public access at each location in which members of the legislative body are teleconferencing; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature recently enacted Assembly Bill 361, Chapter 165, Statutes of 2021 (“AB 361”), which amended Government Code section 54953 to allow local agencies to meet fully virtually during a proclaimed state of emergency if state or local officials have imposed or recommended measures to promote social distancing; and

WHEREAS, the Governor issued a proclamation declaring a state of emergency on March 4, 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic, pursuant to section 8625 of the California Emergency Services Act, and this proclaimed state of emergency currently remains in effect; and

WHEREAS, the Board of the Sonoma County Waste Management Agency (also known as Zero Waste Sonoma) has considered the circumstances of the state of emergency; and

WHEREAS, state or local officials continue to recommend measures to promote social distancing; and

WHEREAS, according to the Sonoma County Health Officer, the grounds for the social distancing recommendation include that online meetings (teleconference meetings) “present the lowest risk of transmission of SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19”; and

WHEREAS, the continuation of virtual meetings will allow for full participation by members of the public until social distancing recommendations are lifted; and

WHEREAS, the Board of the Sonoma County Waste Management Agency desires to continue to hold virtual meetings pursuant to AB 361 and Government Code section 54953(e).

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, the Board of Directors of the Sonoma County Waste Management Agency hereby finds, determines, and resolves as follows:

1. The above recitals and true and correct and shall be the findings of the Board of Directors of the Sonoma County Waste Management Agency.
2. The Board of Directors the Sonoma County Waste Management Agency shall continue to meet virtually in accordance with Government Code section 54953(e) and without compliance with section 54953(b)(3) based upon the findings and determinations hereby made by the Board.

PASSED, APPROVED, and ADOPTED, by the Board of Directors of the Sonoma County Waste Management Agency, on this 18th day of August, 2022, by the following vote:

Sonoma County Public Health Recommendations for Safely Holding Public Meetings

September 22, 2021

Each local government agency is authorized to determine whether to hold public meetings in person, online (teleconferencing only), or via a combination of methods. The following are recommendations from Sonoma County Public Health to minimize the risk of COVID-19 transmission during a public meeting of a legislative body held in compliance with Government Code section 54953(e):

1. Online meetings (teleconferencing meetings) are strongly recommended as those meetings present the lowest risk of transmission of SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19.
2. If a local agency determines to hold in-person meetings, offering the public the opportunity to attend via a call-in option or an internet-based service option is recommended, when possible, to give those at higher risk of and/or higher concern about COVID-19 an alternative to participating in person.
3. If a local agency holds in person meetings, a written safety protocol should be developed and followed. It is recommended that the protocol require social distancing – i.e., six feet of separation between attendees – and face masking of all attendees in compliance with Order of the Health Officer of the County of Sonoma C19-25.

4. If a local agency holds in person meetings, seating arrangements should allow for staff and members of the public to easily maintain at least six-foot distance from one another at all practicable times.
5. Consider holding public meetings outdoors. Increasing scientific consensus is that outdoor airflow reduces the risk of COVID-19 transmission compared to indoor spaces. Hosting events outdoors also may make it easier to space staff and members of the public at least six feet apart.
6. Current evidence is unclear as to the added benefit of temperature checks in addition to symptom checks. We encourage focus on symptom checks as they may screen out individuals with symptoms but no fever and help reinforce the message to not go out in public if you are not feeling well.
7. Consider a voluntary attendance sheet with names and contact information to assist in contact tracing of any cases linked to a public meeting.

ITEM: Strategic Planning Work Sessions

I. RECOMMENDED ACTION / ALTERNATIVES TO RECOMMENDATION

Staff recommends that Board members participate in strategic planning sessions and designate a Strategic Planning Ad Hoc committee to help facilitate the process.

II. BACKGROUND

In December 2013, the Board participated in a professionally led strategic planning process which occurred over three work sessions. The objective of the planning process was to determine if the Agency was to continue past the 2017 sunset date, develop a vision for the Agency if it continued past 2017, and/or a create a transition plan for the closure of the Agency after the sunset date expired. A strategic plan or roadmap for ZWS was not completed during this process. At the January 15, 2020 Board meeting, the Board approved to hire HR Matrix, a local facilitation company, to develop a strategic plan which included 3 face-to-face meetings with Board members and staff. A contract with HR Matrix was signed in early February 2020 and the County of Sonoma declared a Local Public Health Emergency to respond to COVID-19 on March 2, 2020. The project was put on hold at that point.

III. DISCUSSION

Staff believes there is value in initiating a strategic planning process for ZWS especially considering state legislation, climate initiatives, and the desire to divert more resources from the landfill. Staff proposes restarting the strategic planning project and hiring HR Matrix to define the direction of ZWS and to prepare accordingly. Through this process, staff hopes to create a mission and vision statement and identify strategic areas of development with multi-year priorities that can be allocated, reviewed, and evaluated. The final product, a 5-year strategic plan, will serve as a road map for ZWS.

Staff received a revised scope of work from HR Matrix. HR Matrix will execute the following tasks for ZWS:

- Complete “Discovery” phase to better understand ZWS which includes interviews of some Board members and staff.
- Facilitate three Ad Hoc committee meetings to establish context, build plan framework and complete draft strategic plan.
- Facilitate two 3-hour “Retreats” with Board members and staff develop strategic priorities, goals and objectives and provide final input on the strategic plan.
- Engage with designated AB 939 Task Force members to provide further input and recommendations.

The below diagram further describes the Strategic Planning Process including a timeline:

PROPOSED STRATEGIC PLANNING PROCESS

Phase	Launch	Discovery	Ad Hoc: Develop Context	"Retreat" (BOD)	Ad Hoc: Draft plan	Checkpoint (BOD)	Checkpoint (AB939 group)	Ad Hoc: Complete Plan	"Retreat" (BOD)

HR Matrix has extensive experience guiding organizations through the strategic planning process and completed Sonoma County's Five-Year Strategic Plan in March 2021. Gary Hochman, founder of HR Matrix, has worked in the development of organizations for over 30 years and will serve as ZWS's strategic planning facilitator. Throughout his career, Gary has led numerous projects helping executives, managers, and governing entities achieve results in varied and demanding situations.

IV. FUNDING IMPACT

Staff would like to enter into agreement with HR Matrix to provide facilitation services at a cost not to exceed $18,000. The funding for HR Matrix would be drawn from the Contingency Reserve. There are sufficient appropriations in the Contingency Reserve to accommodate the expenditures for this fiscal year.

ITEM: Edible Food Recovery Capacity Study Report and Presentation

I. RECOMMENDED ACTION / ALTERNATIVES TO RECOMMENDATION

Staff recommends the Board receive the presentation from contractor Abound Food Care.

II. BACKGROUND

As part of the state's goals to address food insecurity, the SB 1383 Short-lived Climate Pollutants regulations require that jurisdictions evaluate existing food recovery capacity and infrastructure to implement and support local food recovery programs. Staff released a Request for Qualifications (RFQ) for an Edible Food Recovery Capacity Study on September 29, 2021. Out of four proposals, staff selected Abound Food Care (Abound) as the top contender. During the November 2021 regular meeting, the ZWS board approved staff's request to contract with Abound to conduct the countywide study. The study included the following tasks:

1. Estimate the total annual amount of edible food that Tier 1 and 2 Generators are sending to the landfill
2. Identify and compile a list of existing food recovery and food distribution organizations
3. Identify remaining capacity for edible food at existing food recovery organizations
4. Calculate the minimum recovery capacity for edible food
5. Calculate the needed edible food capacity and infrastructure

III. DISCUSSION

Using the preliminary information and contacts provided by staff to start, the Abound team conducted surveys through phone interviews to collect information and data. Abound reached out to 280 potential Tier 1 Generators and 466 potential Tier 2 Generators. In addition, Abound surveyed 96 food recovery services and food recovery organizations (FRS/FRO's). Some key findings are below:

- Sonoma County's expansive, rural geographic makeup creates some unique challenges. Many FRS/FRO's are located in the more densely populated areas of the County. For example, the City of Santa Rosa has 18 out of 28 identified active FRS/FRO's, which reflects the population. It could be challenging for these FRS/FRO's to extend capacity beyond the City limits to fill logistic gaps in other, more rural, regions of the County.

- Many generators identified food donation barriers including limited or no excess to edible food, limited understanding of the food donation process, negative effects of COVID-19 on their business, and logistical issues.
- Of those generators that are currently participating in food recovery, it is likely that they are not donating all available food due to lack of infrastructure or outlets.
- There is no accurate way to track how much food is being moved by FRS/FRO's, as the majority do not have weighing scales or software to measure their collection and distribution.
- A majority of the FRS/FRO's reported they could accept more food using their existing infrastructure. However, without scales and proper tracking, it is challenging to calculate specific amounts. In addition, although the FRS/FRO's did identify that they could receive more food, many did note that they would not have the logistical capacity to pick up or the storage space to hold the food for any extended period of time. This means that the food would have to be distributed to the community on the same day they receive the donation.
- Staffing shortages were identified as the largest barrier for FRS/FRO's to manage more food, with drivers identified as a need for 44% of the FRS/FRO's who predominantly rely on a volunteer workforce.
- Food recovery from Tier 2 Generators is disproportionately more difficult than food recovery from Tier 1 Generators and yields less usable product. For example, there are more prepared food items which significantly limits the number of FRS/FRO's that can provide service to Tier 2 Generators. There is also less food per pick-up, where the logistics burden is higher for less total food received.
- An overwhelming amount of food recovery efforts are currently conducted by the Redwood Empire Food Bank (REFB), using their trucks, personnel, and distribution center. REFB will not be able to assist in Tier 2 Generator recovery, as it is outside their operational scope. Prepared food from Tier 2 Generators typically cannot be managed through food banks. Even FROs of food banks are limited in their ability to manage prepared foods because of the higher food safety risk

More detailed results of their findings along with their recommendations for next steps are included in the attached final report.

IV. FUNDING IMPACT

As this is an informational presentation, there are no funding impacts at this time. However, staff will need to evaluate the recommendations provided by Abound and discuss next steps with the Board at a future date. Building a resilient food recovery network and creating more infrastructure will require monetary investment.

1.0 Introduction

Zero Waste Sonoma (ZWS) is a Joint Powers Authority serving the 10 jurisdictions of Sonoma County and leading SB 1383 regulatory implementation efforts. Abound Food Care (Abound) was contracted by ZWS to complete an Edible Food Recovery Capacity Study. This Capacity Study aims to fully assess the regional capacity of edible food recovery for the jurisdictions located in Sonoma County as required in the Short-Lived Climate Pollutants regulation (SB 1383). The Capacity Study is based on an in-depth survey of local Food Recovery Services and Food Recovery Organizations (FRS/FRO), including the Redwood Empire Food Bank (REFB), a survey of Tier 1 and 2 Commercial edible food generators (Generators), and a detailed roadmap and recommendations for ZWS to assist their member jurisdictions in compliance with SB 1383 and build a resilient food recovery model in the region.

1.1 Contract Tasks and Deliverables

Table 1: Contract Tasks and Deliverables

Task	Task Description	Deliverable
1	Identification of Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators Countywide	Countywide List of Generators and Survey Notes. See Appendix A
2	Identify and Compile List of Existing FRS/FRO's	List of FRS/FRO's that are collecting and distributing food, and those that could assist in the expansion of edible food recovery. See Appendix B
3	Identify Remaining Capacity for Edible Food at Existing FRO's	Detailed current capacity See Section 6.0
4	Calculate the Minimum Recovery Capacity for Edible Food	Summary of Data Provided. See Section 6.0
5	Calculate the Needed Edible Food Capacity and Infrastructure	Summary of Data Provided. See Section 5.0
6	Implementation Schedule, if Needed	TBD

Approach to Meeting Contract Tasks

Abound approached these tasks with three clear goals in mind:

1. To identify the resources needed to meet requirements of SB 1383;
2. To effectively recover excess edible food to reduce food insecurity; and
3. To provide a roadmap for all stakeholders in the region that ensures the transparent and responsible use of funds.

Abound worked to gather as much information as possible through surveys, interviews, data requests, and site visits. This report represents a snapshot of the current programs that are in flux from the significant impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic and the current SB 1383 regulations. The stakeholders in the County should view this report as a starting point and revisit these recommendations in accordance with the guidelines provided and measure them against the proposed metrics of success to continue to build upon the program as necessary to meet these fundamental goals as the region adapts and changes.

2.0 Short-Live Climate Pollutants – Edible Food Recovery Regulations

In 2016, the hottest year on record at the time, Governor Brown signed SB 1383 Short-Lived Climate Pollutants into California state law. The law was designed to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, a significant amount of which are produced from the decomposition of organic materials, such as food in landfills, while also addressing widespread food insecurity experienced by California residents. Oversight and enforcement of the law was assigned to the California Department of Resources Recycling and Recovery, more commonly known as CalRecycle.

One of the goals of SB 1383 is to achieve a 75% statewide reduction in the amount of organic materials sent to landfills by the year 2025, using 2014 as the baseline. In addition, 20% of the edible food currently disposed in landfills must be recovered to feed people¹. Examples of edible food that can be recovered include whole produce and prepared foods that are still safe to eat, have not been served, and are in their original and unopened packaging, although they may be less marketable or slightly blemished.

SB 1383 regulations require commercial businesses and entities that generate significant amounts of excess edible food to establish food recovery programs. These entities are divided into two groups, which are defined below. Tier 1 Generators are required to start recovering excess food in 2022 while Tier 2 Generators are required to start in 2024. The regulations also require jurisdictions to measure existing capacity for food recovery, identify gaps in infrastructure, and implement a plan for expansion if necessary. This Edible Food Recovery Capacity Study, completed by Abound, satisfies the first two requirements and may be submitted to CalRecycle by the August 2022 deadline.

Tier 1 Generators required to recover excess edible food starting January 1, 2022:

- Supermarkets with Revenue \geq $2 million;
- Grocery Stores with Facilities \geq 10,000 sq. ft.;
- Food Service Providers;
- Food Distributors; and
- Wholesale Food Vendors.

Tier 2 Generators required to recover excess edible food starting January 1, 2024:

- Restaurants with Facilities \geq 5,000 sq. ft. or 250+ Seats;
- Hotels with an On-Site Food Facility and 200+ Rooms;
- Health Facilities with an On-Site Food Facility and 100+ Beds;
- Large Venues and Events;
- State Agency Cafeterias with Facilities \geq 5,000 sq. ft. or 250+ Seats;
- Local Education Agency with an on-site Food Facility; and
- Non-Local Entities.

The food recovery-specific requirements in the SB 1383 regulations require jurisdictions to conduct outreach, monitor Tier 1 and 2 Generators for compliance, and report annually to CalRecycle.

¹ Note that Edible Food Recovery targets are not based on a 2014 baseline. Instead, targets are measured off of existing disposal estimates, which are included in this report.

Outreach: The jurisdictions located in Sonoma County must work with Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators regarding their requirements to donate excess edible food, maintain a written agreement with each organization or service that accepts the food, and maintain records of the types and pounds of food being donated. Jurisdictions must also provide information and resources to assist food waste generators in complying with the law, including a list of local FRS/FRO's and potential penalties for refusing to participate in the program.

Monitoring: A list of businesses that must comply with the edible food recovery requirements are presented in this report. These lists will become the basis for outreach and implementation of food rescue plans. For businesses which assert they do not require compliance, the jurisdictions must require some burden of proof from the generator why they do not fall into the definitions of Tier 1 or Tier 2 Generators. Jurisdictions must monitor and annually inspect Tier 1 and 2 Generators to ensure they are donating the maximum amount of food possible and fulfilling their requirements under SB 1383. Based on feedback from ZWS, a partnership with the County Environmental Health Department to conduct inspections of Tier 1 and 2 food waste Generators is being explored.

Reporting: The jurisdictions located in Sonoma County must be fully prepared to track its efforts, as well as capacity planning reporting, and all other reporting requirements under SB 1383. Reporting programs must be developed by working closely with the Food Bank, FRS/FRO's, businesses, and the local community to acquire the needed information for its reports to CalRecycle. Reporting requirements can be designated by each jurisdiction to ZWS.

CalRecycle's SB 1383 regulations provide key definitions as follows:

Article 1. Definitions
Section 18982. SB 1383 Definitions - Food Recovery

- 13 (24) "Food recovery" means actions to collect and distribute food for human 14 consumption which otherwise would be disposed.
15 (25) "Food recovery organization" means an entity that engages in the collection or 16 receipt of edible food from commercial edible food generators and distributes that 17 edible food to the public for food recovery either directly or through other entities 18 including, but not limited to:
19 (A) A food bank as defined in Section 113783 of the Health and Safety Code;
20 (B) A nonprofit charitable organization as defined in Section 113841 of the Health
21 and Safety code; and,
22 (C) A nonprofit charitable temporary food facility as defined in Section 113842 of 23 the Health and Safety Code.
24 (26) "Food recovery service" means a person or entity that collects and transports
25 edible food from a commercial edible food generator to a food recovery organization
26 or other entities for food recovery.

3.0 Current Food Recovery Landscape in Sonoma County

To effectively make recommendations for the edible food recovery in the County, it is vital to understand the current landscape, including the dynamics between the food bank and the smaller FRS/FRO's, in addition to those organizations that stand out as particularly vital to the network.

- Sonoma County has one large food bank, REFB, which offers distributions at over 200 locations.
- Additionally, there are 27 active FRS/FRO's operating in the region, including several larger organizations that are specifically highlighted in this report.
 - Please see Appendix B for a full list of FRS/FRO's.
 - Surveys indicate that 16 FRS/FRO's can accept more food (see Table 2). The other FRS/FRO's are at capacity and cannot accept new donations.

REFB Operational Description

REFB is one of the more well organized and efficient food bank distribution centers we have found in California, providing direct delivery services to their FRO partners. In addition, REFB serves as a hub to other FRS/FRO's servicing the counties of Humboldt, Lake, Mendocino and Del Norte. REFB works out of a 60,000 square foot warehouse facility where they have industrial coolers and freezers to store their temperature sensitive food donations and have access to 3rd party cold storage facilities if it is needed. They utilize warehouse racking for their dry storage.

The evaluation of REFB revealed that they are a dominant stakeholder in the current service of Tier 1 Generators, recovering 1.4 million pounds of excess edible food in 2021 and coordinating the recovery of an additional 892,000 pounds through the efforts of their partner agencies. REFB expressed an interest in onboarding and servicing the remaining Tier 1 Generators in Sonoma County with the aid of additional resources. Roughly 65% of the excess edible food recovered from existing Tier 1 Generators is picked up directly by the food bank, sorted in their warehouse, and made available for distribution to member agencies. REFB has identified the ability to service the remaining Tier 1 Generators either directly or through their network of partner FRS/FRO's. In addition to current warehouse and transportation services, REFB has an on-site commercial kitchen in operation that is currently repurposing excess edible food. This commercial kitchen has the capability of expanding its operations to have an even greater impact in eliminating food waste.

The REFB will not be participating in the recovery of food from Tier 2 Generators. This is common among food bank operations as they focus their efforts on large pallet sized quantity food donations, rather than case donations typically donated by Tier 2 Generators. There is a larger number of Tier 2 Generators that will need to be brought into compliance based on the surveys that Abound conducted. There are opportunities to implement food repurposing kitchens to repurpose prepared and bulk food items into nutritious meals, in packaging that the FRS/FRO's are able to distribute to their clients. This would not only assist with the Tier 2 Generator compliance but also presents an opportunity for foodservice and culinary training programs in the County. The kitchen operation also provides opportunities for the community to volunteer.

The REFB is also responsible for the bulk of the administrative components of the food recovery system, including contracts and tonnage tracking. REFB indicated that the majority of food donations are coordinated through their food bank, but FRS/FRO's will often pick up the donations and bring them back to their own locations. The FRS/FRO's can also shop at the food bank, as well as pick up food from their online order system. While REFB is located in Sonoma County, they service multiple counties, presenting the ability to implement a more regional program through coordination between the counties.

Abound feels REFB's ability to connect the FRS/FRO network would be greatly enhanced through the use of available food recovery technology, such as Feeding America's Meal Connect platform, rather than utilizing their current inventory management platform (Primarius). Other Feeding America food banks have identified the value in utilizing the Meal Connect platform to connect Generators to recipient FRS/FRO's and mitigate two critical food safety concerns (time and temperature) while tracking FRS/FRO volunteers, and staff recovering product. Abound would encourage REFB to incorporate the Meal Connect platform and recommend providing funding for staff to administer the platform effectively.

Due to the scope and reach of REFB, as well as the food industry's support for regional collaboration that would enhance resources, Abound feels a regional approach, that includes Sonoma County, to be a viable option providing cost reductions, access to greater resources, and increased program efficiencies. REFB would be a valuable partner in making this regional approach successful.

FRS/FRO Operational Description

The existing network of FRS/FRO's are generally reliant on REFB's operations and administration of food recovery, where 74% of the survey responses indicated that 50% or more of their current food comes from REFB. REFB will contract with an FRO directly in two ways. The first and predominant method is where REFB trucks/staff pick up excess donated food from Tier 1 Generators and return the product to the food bank's distribution center, where it is sorted and made available for distribution. This 'marketplace' provides FRS/FRO's with an opportunity to shop for products in addition to being able to order product in advance for direct delivery.

The second method includes utilizing select REFB FRS/FRO's to conduct excess food pick-ups from the Tier 1 Generators directly, commonly referred to as 'grocery rescue programs.' These partner FRS/FRO's then distribute the recovered food to food insecure individuals. There are additionally some FRS/FRO's that are currently servicing Tier 2 Generators². There is a need to develop additional infrastructure to further service the Tier 2 Generators, which is fully addressed in Section 5.

Important service providers that were specifically identified in the surveys include Farm to Pantry, Sonoma Food Runners, and Conservation Corps North Bay. These service providers have existing logistic capabilities that can be built upon quickly or have demonstrated they are larger operations that can greatly assist with new donations to accommodate SB 1383. For those reasons, these service providers have been considered essential in the analysis of the current network. Further details regarding the FRS/FRO's that have additional available capacity, or have been identified as key strategic partners, can be found in Table 2.

Abound has included recommendations to support the network of FRS/FRO's to expand their current infrastructure and prepare them for expanded food recovery such as funding third-party logistics, portable cold storage operations, and expanding repurposing kitchens that will help enhance their operations. This is further described in Section 6.

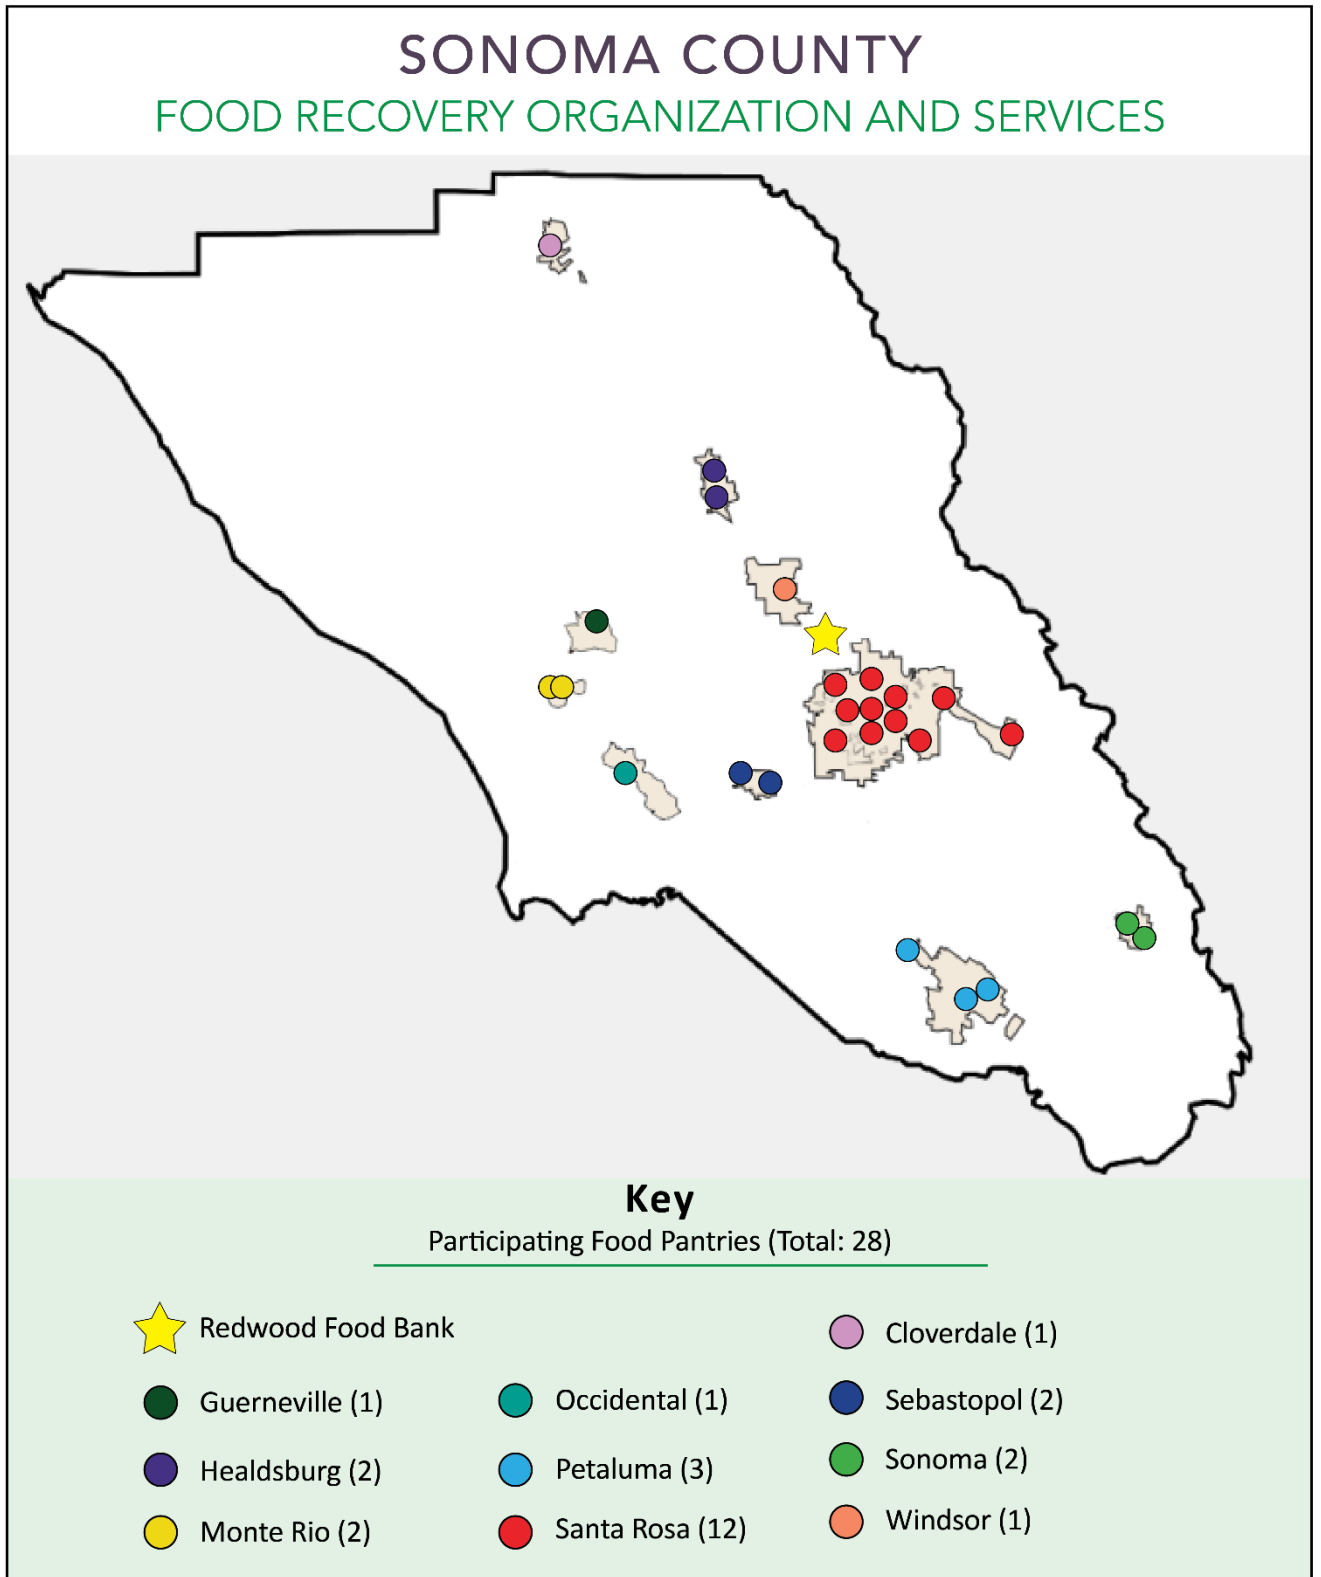

² Confidentiality of these items are critical due to the nature of food recovery and the agreements that may be in place between Generators, food bank and their FRS/FRO's. Abound can release this information only if it will be kept confidential.

Table 2. Summary of FRS/FRO Organizational Details with Available Capacity

Name of FRS/FRO	Location	Operation Description	Have Available Current Capacity?	Current Capacity lbs/month
Church of the Incarnation	Santa Rosa	Provides Sunday breakfast and weekly sack lunches.	Yes	Less than 100 lbs*
Committee on the Shelterless	Petaluma	On-site supportive housing. Provides food to churches, seniors and meals are served on-site.	Yes	2,000 - 2,400 lbs
Elisha's Pantry	Santa Rosa	Small pantry participating in some grocery store rescue.	Yes	300 lbs
St. Sebastian Church	Sebastopol	Small pantry participating in some grocery store rescue.	Yes	Unknown
Bayside Church of Santa Rosa	Santa Rosa	Small distribution location with limited on-site storage.	Yes	2,000 lbs
Catholic Charities Diocese of Santa Rosa	Santa Rosa	Very small pantry that conducts on-site distributions.	Yes	15,000 lbs
Cloverdale Food Pantry	Cloverdale	Collaborative pantry supported by four different entities that distribute once a week.	Yes	1,000 - 5,000 lbs
Community Action Partnership of Sonoma County	Santa Rosa	No storage locations. Food is brought in and distributed same day.	Yes	800 lbs*
Conservation Corps North Bay	Cotati	Organization looking to build career training programs. Received a grant for a truck that can be used for food recovery.	N/A	N/A
Farm to Pantry	Healdsburg	Rapidly growing gleaning organization that receives food from farms and backyard gardens. Provides food to food bank on occasion. Moving toward recovered food.	Yes	5,000 - 29,000 lbs

Name of FRS/FRO	Location	Operation Description	Have Available Current Capacity?	Current Capacity lbs/month
Friends in Sonoma Helping (F.I.S.H of Sonoma)	Sonoma	Conducting grocery rescue and sorting of food on-site in an office building.	Yes	5,000 lbs
Redwood Empire Food Bank	Santa Rosa	Only food bank in Sonoma County supporting network of pantry and distribution locations.	Yes	197,297 lbs
Salvation Army- Santa Rosa	Santa Rosa	Warehouse operations that distribute food to community. Currently participating in grocery rescue programs.	Yes	60,000 - 70,000 lbs
Sonoma Food Runners	Santa Rosa	Pantry run by 100% volunteers out of small facility conducting distributions.	Unknown	4,000 - 5,000 lbs
Sonoma Overnight Support	Sonoma	Small pantry operated out of an event hall. Conducting some grocery rescue.	Yes	500 lbs
St. Andrews Mission	Monte Rio	Small pantry distributing food out of a church.	Yes	Less than 1,000 lbs
Star of the Valley, Nick's Pantry	Santa Rosa	Small pantry distributing food to 20 families per month. Receives most food from REFB.	Yes	Unknown

Edible Food Recovery Network: Building a More Efficient Model

FRS/FRO's have historically been responsible for edible food recovery from businesses who have voluntarily chosen to donate their food. At the center of the organizational networks are large food banks, operating as the main distribution centers, moving pallets of food in and out of their operations. Food banks help support the bulk of the logistics for the network, coordinating most food collection and contracting with major chain businesses for the collection of their food. Smaller non-profits depend, sometimes exclusively, on food banks for food to provide to their clients. Although food recovery has been in practice for many years, it does not represent the bulk of the food that moves through these FRS/FRO networks. (These networks distribute food from food drives, that have been purchased, provided by farmers, and government funded food sources, including USDA and TEFAP.) Adding a layer of complexity to this network is the competitive nature that exists between the organizations, who all rely on the same pool of resources (funding, volunteers, and food).

Instead, Abound has been working to build a more resilient, efficient and sustainable model for food recovery. Central to the approach is building relationships, shared logistics and greater levels of collaboration between the organizations. This can be achieved by providing oversight of the network through an independent organization, that brings FRS/FRO's together, standardizes reporting expectations, and provides strategic funding to assist the network in achieving its recovery goals. Below is an image of the recommended model for building an efficient and sustainable food recovery network, where the selected independent organization could fill the role of Food Care Oversight.

Building a More Efficient Model

Using Oversight of Food Recovery to Enhance Resilience and Sustainability

4.0 Capacity Evaluation

The capacity evaluation aims to address two questions: 1) What is the projected amount of edible food produced from all Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators?³ and 2) Does the current network of FRS/FRO's have the available infrastructure to manage the edible food? If the assessment determines there is a gap, and that the current infrastructure will not be sufficient to collect all available edible food from Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators, based on these calculations, then jurisdictions must provide a plan to close the gap.

4.1 Estimation #1 Top-Down Method

The most straightforward means of estimating the amount of edible food available for recovery within a jurisdiction is to extrapolate from disposal figures using a waste characterization. Specifically, this estimation uses the most recent CalRecycle Disposal Reporting Service⁴ records of tons of material disposed, and the "2018 Facility-Based Characterization of Solid Waste in California"⁵ released in May 2020. From these figures the following food waste estimates are obtained:

In 2020, Sonoma County Disposed of 423,425 tons⁶ of waste. This figure is provided by CalRecycle and is based off the most up-to-date information from Electronic Annual Reports.

The 2018 Waste Characterization finds 14.9% of waste is food and that of that food, 19.1% is potentially donatable. As such, Sonoma County is disposing of 63,125 tons of food, of which 12,036 tons are potentially donatable. CalRecycle is seeking to recover 20% of the potentially donatable tons from current disposal by 2025. At current rates, this would suggest rescuing at least 2,407 tons, or 4,814,400 pounds, of food per year.

4.2 Estimation #2 – Business Based Method

Another approach to estimating the amount of food waste considers the individual businesses that would be subject to SB 1383 edible food requirements. These businesses are identified, then the amount of food waste each may generate is estimated using sector-specific waste characterizations. Currently, this analysis is done using publicly available data from several different sources. ZWS and Abound performed this evaluation and provided the number of Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators.

This method suggests that covered businesses generate 16,532 tons of food waste per year, of which 3,622 tons are edible. Commercial Food waste is estimated to be slightly more donatable than the overall food waste stream, at 21.9% recoverable.

4.2.1 Estimation #2 – Methodology

The CalRecycle Commercial Sector Waste Characterization provides sector-specific estimations of how many pounds per employee of waste is produced by each business type. The results of this analysis are provided in Table 3. Food waste is the waste type used for this analysis. Appendix C provides the complete list of each of these generators and their estimated generation.⁷

³ Note that the 20% food recovery goal is not used to assess capacity. Capacity is assessed based on the number and type of Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators in the jurisdiction.

CalRecycle's 2018 Waste Characterization provides an update to the earlier waste characterization and suggests that 22% percent of food waste is edible. This percentage is applied to the amount of food waste generated, based on the number of employees.⁸

Businesses are listed under the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS). This data is sourced through ReferenceUSA, which aggregates NAICS data with employment statistics from the Employment Development Department. This data provides contact information for each business in a jurisdiction, the type of business it is (e.g. grocery store, restaurant, wholesale food distributor), and an estimated range of the employees at the location. The employee count is the basis for estimating the size of the business.⁹

4.2.2 Calculation of Tonnages – CalRecycle Guidance Documents

To determine the availability of new tonnages of edible food waste, the employment numbers are estimated for each Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generator, using data provided by the NAICS. These employment numbers are multiplied by the pounds per person per week waste generation data, provided by the CalRecycle Commercial Sector Waste Characterization Study. The edible food waste from each eligible Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generator is summed. Each businesses' eligible food is calculated as follows:

1) Estimate Employees at Generator:

Estimated Employees = (Employee Range Low + Employee Range High) ÷ 2
(e.g. Employee Range: 10-19: 2(10+19) ÷ 2 = 14.5 employees)

⁸ CalRecycle - 2018 Disposal-Facility-Based Characterization of Solid Waste in California – 5/15/2020. <https://www2.calrecycle.ca.gov/Publications/Details/1666>

⁹ Reference USA - <https://referenceusa.com/Account/LogOn>

2) Calculate Annual Food Waste at Generator:

$$\text{Food Waste (TPY)} = \text{Employees} \times \text{Food Waste Pounds per Employee Per Week} \times 52 \div 2000$$

3) Estimate Amount of Edible Food Waste at Generator:

$$\text{Edible Food Waste (TPY)} = \text{Food Waste} \times 22\%$$

4) Repeat and Sum for each Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generator:

Once summed, this is the estimate for edible food waste generated by SB 1383 covered Generators. Note this amount will be affected by participation rates of each Generator. In addition, the Waste Characterization analysis is based on a statewide level and may not accurately represent the individual member jurisdiction. Using the CalRecycle calculator guidance, it estimates the Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators to produce the following amount of edible food per year:

Table 4: CalRecycle Calculator Estimate of Edible Food Produced Per Year

Category	Tons of Food Waste per Year	Pounds of Food Waste per Year	Recoverable Food Pounds per Year
Tier 1 Generators - TOTAL	9,210	18,419,759	4,033,927
Tier 2 Generators – TOTAL	7,322	14,643,976	3,207,030
TOTAL:	16,532	33,063,735	7,240,957

4.3 Estimation #3 – Food Bank Data

As another point of measurement to assess the amount of potential edible food that may be available for recovery from the Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators that are currently not participating, Abound used current pounds collected from participating Generators and extrapolated the data to the non-participating Generators. The data request to REFB revealed they are currently collecting food from 98 Generators in Sonoma County. In 2021 these Generators provided 2,367,564 pounds of food, equating to 24,159 pounds per year per Generator. This data can be extrapolated by multiplying it against the number of Tier 1 and 2 Generators that require compliance to estimate the total potential pounds of food that must be recovered. It is important to note that this method has inherent conservancies, as many Tier 2 Generators will be donating significantly less food than its Tier 1 Generator counterparts.

Table 5: Estimated Pounds of Additional Recovered Food from Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators

Generators	Number that Require Compliance	Estimated Edible Food
Tier 1	83	2,005,182 pounds
Tier 2	222	5,363,258 pounds
Total	305	7,368,440 pounds

4.4 Summary of Capacity

This data does not provide exact numbers, however CalRecycle provides jurisdictions the ability to use best available information to estimate these numbers, where the CalRecycle tool is provided as a guide. Table 6 below shows a summary of the data.

Table 6: Best Available Information Estimate of Edible Food Produced Per Year

Calculation Option	Source of Calculation	Estimated Edible Food for all Tier 1 and 2 Generators
Option 1	Based on Disposal Amounts	4,814,400 pounds
Option 2	Generator Based Tonnage Assessment	7,240,957 pounds
Option 3	Based on Food Bank Collection Data	7,368,440 pounds

Ultimately each jurisdiction must use a number that best reflects the actual amount of edible food within the jurisdiction, to best plan for SB 1383 compliance. CalRecycle has stated that this is in initial assessment of capacity, and these numbers may be updated each year as more data becomes available.

5.0 Survey of Food Recovery Participants and Generators

An important part of the evaluation of a region's capacity is understanding food recovery programs that are currently happening, where there is opportunity to do more, and where infrastructure is needed to expand capacity if there is a deficit in meeting SB 1383 targets, reducing waste to landfill, and tackling food insecurity within the region. Abound surveyed all the Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators and FRS/FRO's within Sonoma County. The survey of all Generators and FRS/FRO's within the entire region was important because FRS/FRO's do not work within the boundaries of a jurisdiction and a broad understanding of the current network was vital to the programmatic recommendations offered in this report.

5.1 Survey Approach

FRS/FRO's were identified through research of the Sonoma County area and through word-of-mouth interactions with the FRS/FRO's. Abound identified to find any additional FRS/FRO's that recover excess edible food. Abound developed survey questions that covered a broad range of topics including how much food they managed, where that food was sourced, what current infrastructure is available, what infrastructure would be most helpful, and other notes pertaining to the FRS/FRO operation. Additionally, Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators were surveyed for their participation in food recovery. Questions for the generators were kept simple as to gather important information, set a positive tone for future collaboration, and to not be overly burdensome. A full list of survey questions is provided in Appendix A.

The surveys were conducted through phone interviews to guide participants through the questions, answer any questions they may have, and ensure there is adequate follow-up should the participant require multiple phone calls. Notes were made about each participant, where as much information as possible was gathered about the participants to assist in the assessments and final recommendations.

5.2 Summary of Generator Results

Based on the list provided by ZWS and refined by Abound, Abound reached out to 280 potential Tier 1 Generators and 466 potential Tier 2 Generators. Abound made a minimum of 3 calls to the non-responsive food Generators to gather their food donation data. Abound, in an effort to be conservative, assumed that the 62 Tier 1 Generators and 108 Tier 2 Generators that did not respond were not in compliance with edible food donation. The survey of the Tier 1 Generators showed that as many as 83 generators will require new programs to become compliant with the SB 1383.

The remaining generators that were contacted did not qualify with the Tier Generator requirements of SB 1383. Examples include restaurants not meeting the square footage requirements and seating capacity, hotels not having enough beds, school sites without an on-site kitchen facility and generators with no available excess edible food, such as a hatchery. This information was gathered through the survey. Full responses to the survey and their answers have been provided in Appendix A.

Responses from the Generators in the surveys suggested that the existing 81 Tier 1 Generators are likely not donating to the maximum extent possible, where additional infrastructure will be needed for them to meet the requirement of “donating all available excess food”, per SB 1383. Table 8 shows the number of Tier 1 Generators that are in and out of compliance by jurisdiction.

Table 9 lists examples of Generators indicating that they could donate more, if there was better infrastructure in place to service them.

Table 9: Examples of Current Barriers to Participation

Abound's Survey Question: If you do not donate, what are the barriers or extenuating circumstances?

Generator	Survey Answers:	Infrastructure Needed
Rock Island Refrigerated	"Our product has short shelf life and food banks can't do anything."	Regularly scheduled pick-ups with a refrigeration truck. Access to smaller FRS/FRO's that can distribute food faster.
Kashia School K-8	"We are rural - we are too far out for services".	Truck to service rural route. Programs to internalize food recovery within school's students/families.
Shari's Cafe & Pies	"Health hazard"	Education, training, storage, regular pick-ups.

Several Tier 1 Generators were identified to have edible food that is not suitable for donation, such as soda vending machine supply company, vinegar fermentation facility, hatchery, and coffee roasters, for example. Several food distributors are housed out of smaller restaurant locations but will require compliance, as SB 1383 does not discriminate among distributors based on size.

Abound has identified the Generators that have items which are not suitable for donation in Table 10:

Table 10: Example Generators Not Suitable for Donation

Company Name	Company Description
Boisset Sonoma Bottling Facility	Wine bottle company
Curation Foods Inc.	Vinegar fermentation facility
Emerald Herbal Co	Marijuana dispensary
Farmers Lane Plaza	Shopping mall
Petaluma By-Products	Only sells livestock
Valley of the Moon Winery	Winery only
Stonecushion Inc dba Rockpile Vineyards	Wine tasting/vineyard only
Viansa Sonoma Winery & Tasting Room	Wine tasting/vineyard only

The survey of Tier 2 Generators showed that 53 Generators are participating in food donation programs as detailed in Appendix A. Out of those Generators, several of the schools identified that they are participating with REFB.

114 Tier 2 Generators were identified as not participating in a food donation program. These establishments included numerous schools and restaurants. There were 108 non-responsive Tier 2 Generators. To be conservative, non-responsive establishments are assumed to be not participating in a food donation program. To accurately capture qualifying Generators, all Generators that did not respond to the survey must be considered as qualifying and non-participatory, until they have demonstrated otherwise. Many of those responding Tier 2 Generators, who identified as not participating, do not see the importance of beginning food donation in 2022, as the SB 1383 regulations do not take effect for Tier 2 Generators until 2024. This lack of urgency made it challenging to gather the necessary information from the Tier 2 Generators.

5.2.1 Generator Survey Findings

The results of the survey determined several key items.

- Several Generators identified food donation barriers including limited or no excess edible food, not having an understanding of the food donation process, the effects of COVID-19 on their business, and logistical issues.
 - Note that although reports of limited or no excess food could be a reality for the operation, it could also be an indication that the Generators do not have an understanding of their opportunities for donation. It is important through the implementation of SB 1383 that these Generators are appropriately educated on opportunities to donate. In addition, for Generators that do not have excess edible food, it is necessary that they provide ample documentation demonstrating this.
- Many Generators not participating in a program did identify that while they are not participating in a program currently, they would like to. This indicated that education of the FRS/FRO's network in the County would prompt those Generators to join a food donation program.
- Many Generators that are participating in edible food recovery have written contracts through REFB.
- It is likely that many Generators that are participating in edible food recovery are not donating all available food, where better reporting, education, and infrastructure availability are necessary to confirm. This finding is based on Abound's extensive experience in edible food recovery programs and has been supported by REFB's input.

5.3 Summary of Food Recovery Organization and Food Recovery Services Results

In total, Abound surveyed 96 FRS/FRO's, where 21 were non-responsive, 14 were closed, and 34 discontinued operations or do not serve food. The remaining 27 FRS/FRO's provided responses to the surveys, which have been summarized in Appendix B (Please note that documentation and detailed answers to the surveys have not been provided to protect the confidential nature of some of the responses). The survey was designed to not only measure the current infrastructure of the FRS/FRO's, but also to provide a more in-depth understanding of the relationship of these FRS/FRO's to REFB, and how the network could prepare for the requirements of SB 1383 (both Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generator recovery programs) in addition to using any funds in the most efficient and impactful way.

5.3.1 FRS/FRO Survey Findings

There are several key points that were gleaned from the survey that helped provide important recommendations for how the jurisdictions represented by ZWS can best move forward with maximizing food recovery and make significant strides in capturing greater levels of food recovery in the region.

1. There is no accurate way to track how much food is being moved by the FRS/FRO's, as the majority do not have scales or software to measure their collection and distribution. Many of the FRS/FRO's did note that the amount of pounds recovered was either unknown or an estimate by the organization.

Question 30: Needs

Do you ever lack scales?

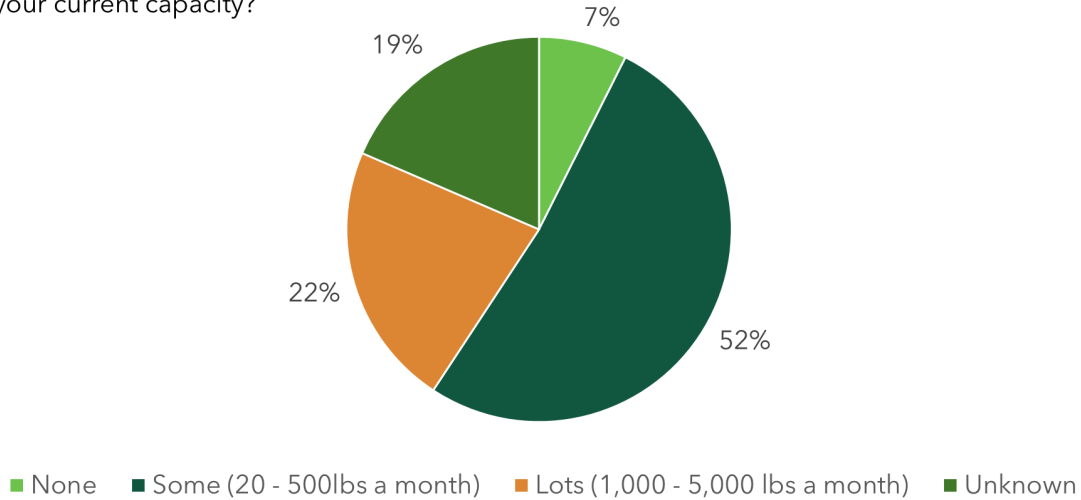

2. A majority of the FRS/FRO's reported they could accept more food using their existing infrastructure. However, given not all FRS/FRO's have scales, it was challenging to assess the exact amount of additional food that could be managed by these FRS/FRO's. In addition, although the FRS/FRO's did identify that they could receive more food, many did note that they would not have the logistical capacity to pick up or the storage space to hold the food for any extended period of time. This means that the food would have to be distributed to the community on the same day as accepting the donation.
 - a. Additional capacity varied in size, nature, and specificity. At a minimum, an estimated 10,000 pounds per month could be donated to existing FRS/FRO's, based on the survey results. Although survey results did show the FRS/FRO's could increase their collections, there is limited tracking taking place to verify the accuracy of these estimates.
 - b. FRS/FRO's that reported they could receive more pounds each month showed an even split between perishable and non-perishable product.

- c. The FRS/FRO's accept all types of food within the required safety guidelines. Abound notes that while they may be able to receive all types of product, they may not be able to safely store all types of product for distribution on a future date.

Question 11: Food

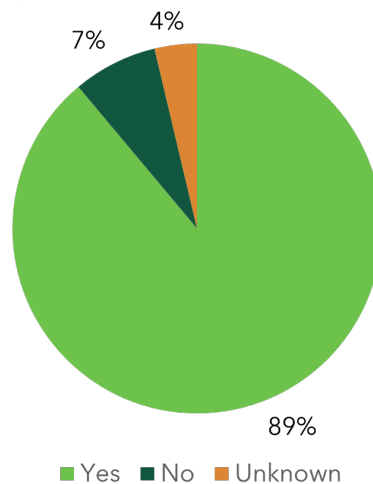

If given the opportunity, how many more pounds of food could you receive each month with your current capacity?

3. CalRecycle allows all food collection by an entity to be reported to the jurisdiction that the entity is located in. This required an internal process for REFB, which receives recovered food from multiple counties. The City of Santa Rosa may end up with a recovery number that does not accurately reflect the recovery happening in the County of Sonoma but encompasses other Counties' recovery efforts.
4. Many of the food FRS/FRO's did identify that COVID affected their operations. They are still dealing with the operational changes and some hope to return to the pre COVID operation of client choice style serving. The client choice model does assist in reducing food waste, as clients are only receiving food they can use, not predetermined food bags/ boxes.

Question 8: Food

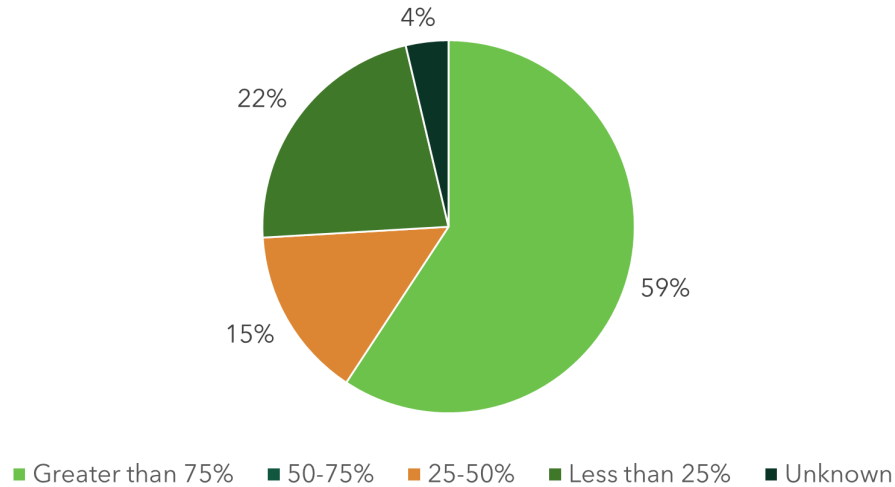

How has COVID-19 affected your operation?

5. REFB coordinates much of the food donation pick-up and drop-off logistics. When REFB is not providing the logistics support, the FRS/FRO's staff will pick up the food donations. It was mentioned throughout the results that volunteers and third-party logistics solutions are needed to assist in relieving some of this pressure. There does seem to be Generator drop off program although this is limited.

Question 7: Food

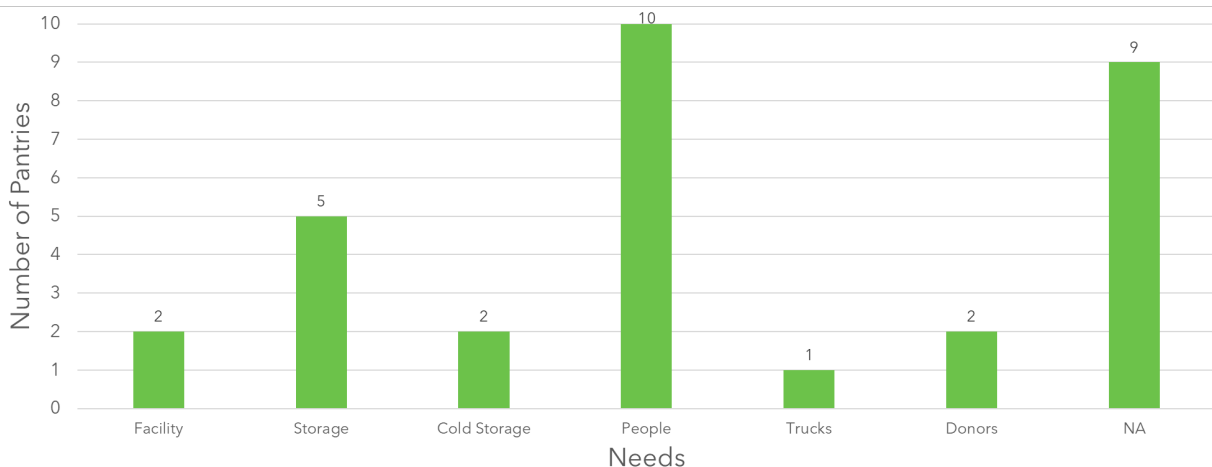

How much of your food is coordinated through the food bank?

6. Staffing shortages were identified as the largest barrier to FRS/FRO's from managing more food.
 - a. Addressing the staffing expansion needed by the FRS/FRO's will require a more detailed assessment of operational efficiencies, challenges, opportunities, and sustainability if funding is provided. Technology could be considered for how this could assist in automating some functions currently being done by a staff member, although the FRS/FRO's did not identify software as a resource they would need.
 - i. Note: this could be due to the fact that education surrounding software benefits are needed.

Question 27: Needs

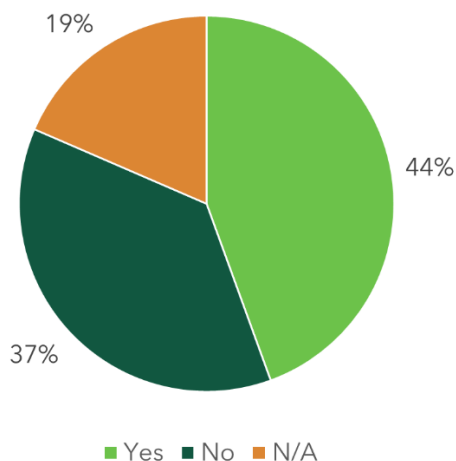

If you are unable to accept more food or add new donors now, what would you need most to recover additional food and begin working with new donors?

7. Drivers were identified as a need for 44% of the FRS/FRO's who predominantly rely on a volunteer workforce.

Question 31: Needs

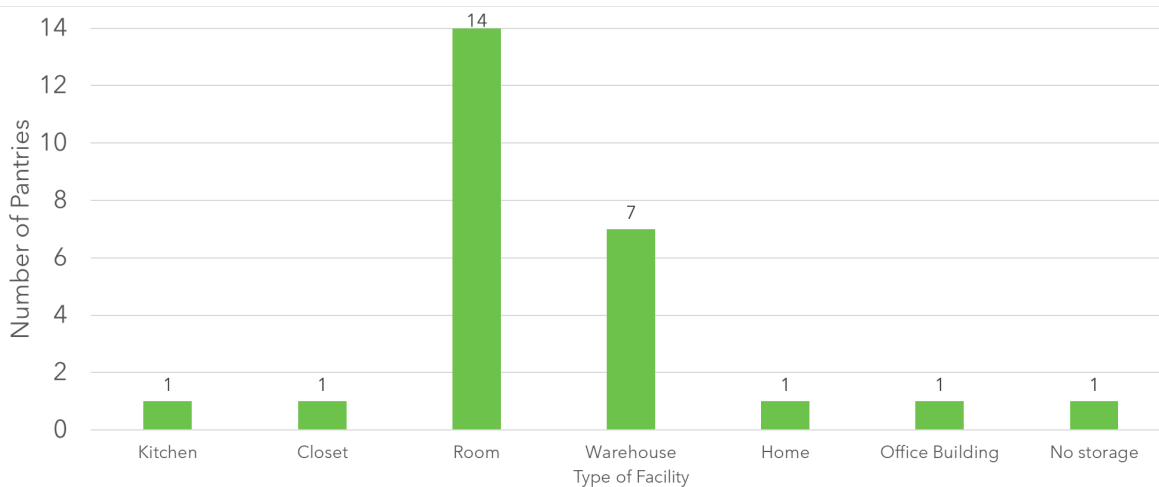

Do you ever lack drivers?

8. Storage space is limited in the FRS/FRO's network, with more than half of the FRS/FRO's working out of a room with limited capability to expand.

Question 15: Capacity

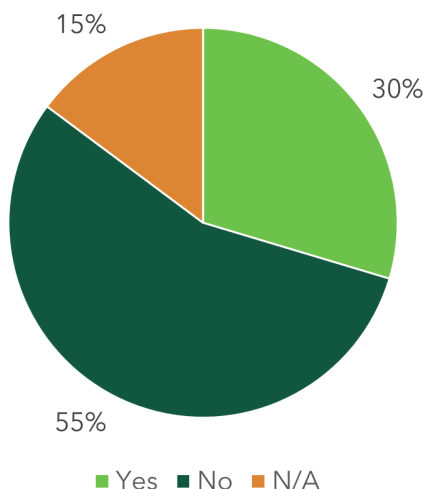

What is the size of your facility you are working in currently?

9. REFB identified the benefits of food safety training to the FRS/FRO's. However, the survey showed that a majority of the FRS/FRO's do not feel like they have a need for this. More education will be needed to explain why this is helpful to their operations.

Question 33: Needs

Would you like food safety training?

These results provide detailed insight into the current landscape of food recovery in the region, where FRS/FRO's networks are complex. A complete summary of the FRS/FRO's survey responses are shown in Appendix B. The specific regional differences need to be considered when approaching food recovery programs, in order to ensure funding can be used most effectively. The survey asked three specific questions regarding the ability for FRS/FRO's to expand current capacity. 1) Could you recover more food each month with your current capacity? 2) Do you have current plans to purchase or expand new infrastructure? 3) Can you add new Generators to your route? FRS/FRO's that responded favorably to any of the three questions were listed in Table 2.

These FRS/FRO's that met those parameters have been identified as key FRS/FRO's that could meet both the objectives of SB 1383 and to catalyze a broader, more sustainable network of food recovery.

Most importantly, these FRS/FRO's represent an initial snapshot of the current programs, where there are key objectives to strengthening these FRS/FRO's. Providing strategic funding for these FRS/FRO's would serve several important purposes:

1. Allow the FRS/FRO's partners to expand existing collection of current Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators and onboard nearby Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators for SB 1383 compliance, where REFB is unable to provide the recovery service.
2. Provide resources that will enhance food recovery operations ahead of the Tier 2 Generator compliance start date. Supporting these types of FRS/FRO's will be required in order to service the Tier 2 Generators, of which REFB will not be servicing.
3. The initial analysis on the FRS/FRO's responses did show that Farm to Pantry, Sonoma Food Runners, Committee on the Shelterless and Conservation Corps North Bay are likely to be valuable participants that could be used quickly and efficiently to enhance food recovery in the region.
 - REFB identified Committee on the Shelterless is doing a significant number of pick-ups and is a reliable partner. Una Vida at Hillside Church is doing a great job, have effective processes and a large Generator base. Catholic Charities, Bayside Church and FISH were also confirmed by REFB as good partners to assist in SB 1383 compliance through REFB's previous experiences.

- Abound's recommendations include a closer review of these FRS/FRO operations in order to finalize the funding suggestions.

This list of FRS/FRO's should be fully vetted in accordance with Section 5.4, where additional FRS/FRO's that can meet the program requirements can be further added to help support the network.

ZWS and their member jurisdictions should make the additional following steps to address the challenges that were identified in the surveys, to support FRS/FRO's beyond the identified partners in Table 2.

1. Detailed supply requests were provided by several FRS/FRO's demonstrating a very specific need among the partners, as detailed in Appendix B. ZWS and their member jurisdictions should develop a source of funding to address these specific requests and evaluate additional supplies that might be needed.
2. Invest in scales for measurement of food, both at an FRS/FRO level (bench scales) and for volunteers (briefcase scales).
3. Increase Cold-storage Capacity (refrigerators and freezers). In consideration of limited space and electrical capacity, it is recommended that ZWS and their member jurisdictions consider funding for third party cold storage solutions, including but not limited to solar powered cold storage containers. While space inside of the FRS/FRO's is limited, many of the FRS/FRO's did identify parking lot space.
4. Make available use of food recovery software (either Meal Connect through REFB and/or additional software programs) to all FRS/FRO's. A list of software options for consideration are included in Section 5.4.
5. Fund an organization that may include but is not limited to REFB to specifically manage Tier 1 Generator on-boarding, contracts, and administration.

5.4 Infrastructure Assessment

The identified FRS/FRO's in Table 2 reported they have existing capacity to onboard new Generators and manage more food. This existing capacity should be further strengthened to support the compliance requirements of SB 1383. For SB 1383 specifically, it is assumed that existing Generators are likely not donating to the maximum extent possible. Further, as many as 83 Tier 1 Generators are not participating in a food donation program as of January 2022. As many as 222 Tier 2 Generators are not participating in a food donation program at this time. Through Abound's analysis and surveying, there were logistical assets that were identified including Farm to Pantry, Sonoma Food Runners, REFB, and Conservation Corps North Bay.

Potential Strategic Partners

Farm To Pantry is a gleaning operation that has the ability to expand its collection of produce and potentially other food products from Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators. They are uniquely positioned as a produce provider to REFB, as well as local nonprofit kitchen operations. Sonoma Food Runners is servicing the vast majority of the Tier 2 Generators that have food donation programs. They are unsure if they would be able to expand but seem to be a key partner in addressing Tier 2 Generators compliance in Sonoma County due to their current depth of service and their speed in which they have developed their programs with very limited infrastructure. Funding for items such as scales and software may be considered to assist Sonoma Food Runners further expand their operations. REFB provides logistics assistance using their fleet of vehicles to pick up donations and either bring them to one of their partner

FRS/FRO's or to the warehouse locations. They have the option of using Meal Connect, the Feeding America logistics software program, but they currently have no plans to incorporate this in their operation. REFB identified that in order to service the remaining Tier 1 Generators, they would need additional drivers and vehicles. The Conservation Corps North Bay recently received a grant from CalRecycle for the purchase of a refrigerated truck. They will be providing a free service to food generators for the first 6 months and a fee for service model will be implemented after that. While this service will be helpful in assisting Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators, it is unknown how the financial cost to the Generator will impact continued participation.

Logistics Assessments

In light of current economic conditions, including the rate of inflation and high fuel costs, in conjunction with the rural nature of the county, more innovative logistic coordination programs and better utilization of existing transportation resources will be a potentially impactful investment. Looking at more thoughtful logistics coordination programs instead of direct investment in logistics assets, such as trucks, will be of more substantial assistance to the FRS/FRO's that may be unable to fuel or staff trucks in the future.

Additionally, completing a detailed food insecurity map would be greatly beneficial to ZWS and its member jurisdictions to better identify where there is a need for food, and where food exists from Generators. These maps identify 25 main elements that contribute to food insecurity by neighborhood, as opposed to more generic methods. Using this map would provide the details needed to identify where logistics support could connect donated food more directly to recipients. Note that Petaluma Bounty spearheaded a report which may include this level of detail. These findings should be incorporated into any plan designed to expand food distribution.

Cold Storage Assessment

As stated, many FRS/FRO's reported they did not have sufficient storage on-site where there were no opportunities for significant expansion to their facilities. Considering this, it is Abound's recommendation that ZWS and/or its member jurisdictions consider investment in portable cold storage solutions, as well as third party cold storage options. Many FRS/FRO's reported that they are currently utilizing parking lots as part of their operations for distributions. These parking lots could be a prime location for portable cold storage solutions that would assist in building more capacity for perishable foods throughout the county. Additionally, Abound encourages exploring the use of private sector cold storage options, specifically for short term cold storage needs.

Food Recovery Technology and Recordkeeping Assessment

According to the completed surveys, a significant number of FRS/FRO staff and volunteers are resistant to the use of food recovery technology and scales to weigh food. Abound has identified this as a common theme in markets and regions where software solutions have not already been introduced or are not readily available. Access to, and use of, food recovery technology will ultimately be a vital part of a successful food recovery program that not only helps to coordinate logistics but also allows staff and volunteers to be more efficient. Abound has found that the sooner food recovery software is introduced, the sooner it will be more widely used and accepted. This will additionally assist in reducing some of the administrative burdens on REFB, where the majority of FRS/FRO's are reliant on their services for weighing and tracking food. This will be vital to the services of Tier 2 Generators that will require a much higher level of coordination due to the types of food that must be managed.

Table 13. Food Recovery Software Examples

Food Recovery Software Examples
Software Name	Description
Food Rescue Hero	Developed by 412 Food Rescue: Focusing on the logistical challenges of retail food recovery, Food Rescue Hero addresses both problems through technology-coordinated, community-powered networks. Through the app, volunteer drivers are alerted when surplus food is available to be picked up near them. Since its launch in 2016, the app has redirected more than 73 million pounds of perfectly good food from landfills to the people who need it.
Food Rescue US	Uber-style on-demand and prescheduled food rescue app enables partners to list and track food available for donation. Receiving agency portal enables organizations to list their specific needs. Provides award recognition programs for volunteers.
Careit	Careit is an easy-to-use mobile app that seamlessly connects any organization with surplus food to a nearby nonprofit looking for food to distribute. Hungry Americans can open the app at any time to find a meal at a local nonprofit and pick it up that day
ChowMatch	Connects food donations with nonprofits using food runners. Nonprofits will create a profile on the types of food they can receive and their receiving hours. The Generator will post their donation and based on the information given will match with a FRS/FRO's who can either accept or reject the donation. Food runners can also post their availability and travel radius. Will generate reports.
Goodr	The Goodr App merges food rescue with mobile technology, provides economic opportunity to drivers, saves families struggling with food security money and reduces waste in the community. While informing the Generator of their impact in pounds donated and meals provided.
Copia	Uber-style on-demand and prescheduled food rescue app enables partners to list and track food available for donation. Also provides some insurance coverage
Meal Connect	Feeding America technology platform
RePlate	Uber-style on-demand and prescheduled food rescue app enables partners to list and track food available for donation.

Supplies and Materials Assessment

Survey responses yielded exceptionally specific details when Abound asked FRS/FRO's what types of supplies and materials were needed to assist in expanding their operational capacity (See Appendix B). This shows that these materials are needed, and great thought was placed in the list of materials that would be required for them to continue their operations. If the jurisdictions of Sonoma County were to invest in these items, this would assist in relieving FRS/FRO budgets, and current operational struggles, which could result in FRS/FRO's being able to be more efficient and further assist in servicing their Tier 1 and Tier 2 Generators. Abound suggests a model where actual materials can be purchased in bulk to reduce costs, where supplies can be directed to FRS/FRO's as needed.

Key Considerations for Funding Strategic Partners

To best identify potential infrastructure investments, further questions must be answered, specific to each of the FRS/FRO's that have been identified as potential strategic partners, to further identify how these funds can be best used:

1. Can the FRS/FRO's add a pick-up to an existing route in order to service a new Generator, if funds are provided for fuel, driver, or other?
2. Is the FRS/FRO's managing food safely?
3. After the initial funding recommendations, (see Short-Term funding goals in Section 6.2) does the FRS/FRO's need distribution support? For example, are additional staff needed to provide more distribution days?
4. Are there additional logistic solutions that could work to further bridge the collection gap? For example, could Yellow Taxicab, or other existing logistics trucks from suppliers be used to deliver food?

Developing a strong and trusted relationship with these FRS/FRO's by engaging them in the process, soliciting feedback, conducting ride-a-longs and site-visits are important aspects of this Logistics Assessment. This Assessment can be used to bring other FRS/FRO's on-board over time as the program matures, or as otherwise identified or required.

6.0 Recommendations

Edible food recovery as a means of reducing food waste and food insecurity is still in its infancy within the state of California and Sonoma County, with several factors and variables to be determined over time. Some of these variables include possible future regulatory interpretation and additional regulations that may further increase stringency around food waste disposal. It is Abound's goal to assist ZWS and its partner jurisdictions with meeting SB 1383 requirements now and establish a long-lasting program that will tackle food insecurity within Sonoma County. It is important to develop the infrastructure, tools, and solutions needed to protect the planet and make excess edible food an effective resource in the effort to reduce the costs and chronic health effects associated with food insecurity. Additionally, developing a sustainable edible food recovery model now will allow for ZWS to prepare more stringent regulations in the future, which are in line with the current trend of how California is mitigating greenhouse gases.

Effective planning in the near-term should focus on achievable short-term goals that help to build resilience and metrics of the program, with a focus on SB 1383 compliance requirements. Long-term goals can be better identified over time, through the analysis of metrics and response of the FRS/FRO networks to the investment in infrastructure and support. Until long-term goals are fully established, Abound recommends focusing on near-term planning and goal setting to meet the initial requirements of SB 1383 and develop a regional program.

The goals and recommendations in this report should be viewed as a 'living' portion of the document that can be updated over specific intervals of time to meet the long-term goals.

Through Abound’s research, survey responses, field visits, and an analysis of the available data provided to us, Abound has identified a number of challenges that exist in developing a strategic path to edible food recovery and an associated shared cost. These factors and challenges included the following:

6.1 Factors and Challenges in Sonoma County

1. Sonoma County’s expansive, rural geographic makeup creates some unique challenges. Many FRS/FRO’s are located in the more densely populated areas of the County. For example, the City of Santa Rosa has 18 identified active FRS/FRO’s, which reflects the population. It could be challenging for these FRS/FRO’s to extend capacity beyond the City limits to fill logistic gaps in other regions of the County.
2. It is currently unknown where the demand is for food distributions. This is an important consideration of an effective network. A detailed food insecurity mapping element could help further define where the pockets of food insecurity exist in the County by neighborhood. This information would assist in defining the best areas for a potential food repurposing kitchen and augmentation of the existing logistics infrastructure. It goes above and beyond the very generic information provided in common regional food insecurity data set such as Feeding America’s “Map the Meal Gap¹⁰.” For example, turnover of food will be faster in neighborhoods that have higher levels of food insecurity. Infrastructure requirements for FRS/FRO’s will be different in regions where food must be stored for longer periods of time.
 - a. Abound has learned that local organizations have worked to gather and report more detailed information on food insecurity in Sonoma County. This effort was led by Petaluma Bounty. Their findings would be an important resource to consider when determining where funds would be best spent to support more distributions.
3. Several generators reported that they ‘had no available food for donation’. Although this could be true, it could also be indicative they need a higher level of training and confidence on what might be donatable to an FRS/FRO. A Generator, such as a grocery store, will have excess food at some point in its supply chain that can be donated for food recovery. For example, product that is delivered in error to a store location cannot be returned to the distributor. Even if a store has achieved ‘zero waste’ in their own operations, likely there will still be opportunities to donate food through these circumstances.
 - a. Additionally, SB 1383 requires robust documentation of a qualifying Generator’s food waste, and the jurisdiction is required to monitor Generator compliance. Should a Generator claim they ‘had no available food for donation’, they would need to provide proof in their enforcement audit, where their compliance cannot be based off of a response to a survey question.
 - b. Tier 2 Generators indicate that there are more barriers for them to participate, including a lack of understanding of food donation, lack of storage on-site, significant distance from any FRS/FRO's, and general liability concerns. Additionally, schools are very concerned about the prohibitions of donating food provided by the USDA. Tier 2 Generators tend to have a more difficult time donating food because it is more likely to be hard-to-handle prepared food items. This means that there is a shorter time frame to transport, store, and serve the food. It additionally requires a greater focus on food safety because of temperature concerns.

4. The overwhelming amount of food recovery efforts are currently conducted by REFB, using their trucks, personnel, and distribution center. REFB will not be able to assist in Tier 2 Generator recovery, as it is outside their operational scope. Prepared food from Tier 2 Generators typically cannot be managed through food banks. Even FROs of food banks are limited in their ability to manage prepared foods because of the higher food safety risk.
5. Although the majority of FRS/FRO's have expressed that they can add more Generators to their routes, several indicated they did not have the ability to handle the additional logistics operations. These FRS/FRO's are included in Table 2. This indicates they would like to do more, but they will require significant assistance through additional infrastructure and logistics help to achieve that goal. Specifically, FRS/FRO's expressed needing the following logistics and infrastructure: scales, pallet jacks, supplies like produce bags, storage space for dry goods, cold storage, trucks, drivers, volunteers, and staffing.
6. The 27 actively confirmed FRS/FRO's that identify as currently conducting food distributions or food services vary in capacity. They range from managing 300 pounds to 70,000 pounds a month and work out of a range of locations including a closet to an old office building or warehouse. All FRS/FRO's are non-profits and listed 501(c)3s.
7. In general, current Generators seem satisfied with REFB and existing FRS/FRO's programs.
8. Overwhelmingly FRS/FRO's are not using scales to weigh their food as they depend on REFB's recordkeeping. There also appears to be a resistance among FRS/FRO's to incorporate the use of scales and higher levels of tracking through software programs. This is common within FRS/FRO's, who are operated by volunteers that may not understand the operational benefits to tracking and reporting, and instead prefer to rely on REFB.
9. FRS/FRO's report very limited on-site storage, often stating they must distribute the same day as receiving the food. This lack of storage must be considered when expanding capacity as the logistical complications of receiving and distributing foods same day will be significant.
10. 54% of FRS/FRO's have no current plans for expansion, and the remainder either have significant barriers or current expansion plans are minimal to their operations which will not result in significant additional capacity. Barriers to expansion include a lack of dry storage, cold storage, staffing, volunteers, food donation opportunities, facilities, and funding.
11. The Conservation Corps North Bay (CCNB) has the ability to assist with logistics through a refrigerated box truck. However, the current program is scoped to require a Generator fee-based model of funding the collection of edible food after the first six months of the program. This could be cost prohibitive and may deter Generators from donating the maximum amount of edible food and disincentivize safe participation by limiting number of pick-ups to reduce cost. There are a variety of steps that can be taken to mitigate the high cost to the Generator associated with the current pricing model. One way to approach this would be to incorporate this program into the third-party logistics assistance through regional funding outlined in Section 6.

12. Food recovery from Tier 2 Generators is disproportionately more difficult than food recovery from Tier 1 Generators and yields less usable product. For example, there are more prepared food items which limits significantly the number of FRS/FRO's that can provide service to them. There is also less food per pick-up, where the logistics burden is higher for less total food received.
 - a. REFB shared their concern that many of their FRS/FRO's are not currently equipped to handle prepared food items from Tier 2 Generators. This highlights the need for a food repurposing kitchen to repurpose and repackage prepared and bulk food items into meals that FROs are able to receive. Additionally, Tier 2 Generator food donations pose a significantly higher food safety risk because much of this food is hot and more difficult to maintain food safety through the hot food chain. This will require more training and outreach to staff on how to safely manage the food. Along with the reality that there is comparatively higher staff turnover at Tier 2 Generator establishments, which leads to the need for greater education and outreach than that of Tier 1 Generators.
13. REFB identified the need for more drivers and vehicles to handle the additional logistics required to pick up the food donations from the identified Tier 1 Generators not participating in a program. They do employ a third-party trucking company to assist with large donations but is not a consistent solution for regular pick-ups.
14. Servicing School Districts can be a challenging process and REFB may be the best fit to handle the logistics of these pick-ups, however more discussions need to be had on whether they have the infrastructure and resources to coordinate, pick up and distribute this product from all of the school districts.
 - a. REFB confirmed they would not be able to serve Tier 2 Generators. However, much of the product from schools are individually packaged items as opposed to a restaurant style prepared food pick up. Several school districts did identify that they have a partnership with REFB. Expansion of the school food donation program and partnership with REFB would help the County to comply with the remaining Tier 2 school Generators.
15. Although REFB is located in Sonoma County, they provide services to multiple counties in the region. This presents a unique scenario as ZWS (and/or the jurisdictions in Sonoma County) allocate funding to REFB to assist with SB 1383 compliance. It will be important for all the Counties and REFB to discuss funding considerations and providing assurances that any funding provided to REFB will be allocated to assist Sonoma County programs. Or alternatively, the Counties could combine resources to ensure REFB funding will support the objectives of the entire region.

6.2 Short-Term Strategy (12-24 Months)

Overarching Program – Short Term

- Abound recommends ZWS define their role to the FRS/FRO network. Messaging what role ZWS plays in the edible food recovery portion of SB 1383 compliance will give the FRS/FRO's a clear understanding of why they should be open to the implementation of the recommendations made in this capacity study. Abound has seen more success when jurisdictions play a partner role in the program, not the lead of a program due to legal liability issues within the jurisdiction's structures

(Examples of liabilities include the challenges and risk concerns of jurisdictions purchasing equipment used for an FRS/FRO partner).

- Abound recommends ZWS work with other counties in the region to discuss the navigation of building infrastructure of a food bank that services multiple counties. This could include a regional joint funding program.
- By looking at non-traditional strategic partnerships (for example, grocery stores that have available freezer space, produce companies to assist with trucking, existing restaurants for repurposing kitchens etc.) there could be further opportunity to expand the current shortage of space, logistics capabilities and cold storage capacity of the current FRS/FRO's.
- Additionally, given there is limited expansion capabilities for the current FRS/FRO's, ZWS could consider funding portable solar-powered cold storage solutions. These units could be additionally used to support the current Emergency Food Recovery Program that is being developed by the Sonoma County Food Recovery Coalition.
- Software programs could provide valuable support for the FRS/FRO's and their ability to accurately report data regarding their collection programs. While Food Recovery Software is critical in the development of a successful food recovery program, more education to the FRS/FRO network on the benefits is also needed. Additionally, research and development are needed to assess which platform will fit the County of Sonoma's needs the most. Abound recommends investigating software options to find solutions that best fit the needs of the network. Section 5.4 provides a list of initial software options for consideration.

REFB

- Abound recommends support of REFB in the onboarding of Tier 1 Generators, on-site evaluation of FRS/FRO's servicing Tier 1 Generators and management of the food donation process.
- Additionally, Abound recommends providing funding for a driver and vehicle to assist in the pick-up of the remaining Tier 1 Generator donations.
- Abound recommends earmarking funds for equipment such as pallet jacks with scales.
- REFB has a kitchen facility on site which is repurposing excess edible food. Funding the expansion of this effort would prepare the County for Tier 2 Generator compliance and Tier 1 Generator bulk food donations.

Food Recovery Organization/Food Recovery Services

- The FRS/FRO network was thorough in listing their supply and material needs required to optimize their current operations and to expand their capacity. Abound recommends providing funding for these materials including gloves, distribution bags, produce bags, milk crates, boxes, etc. Abound has outlined these supplies in the funding recommendations in Section 6.4.
- Understanding the capacity within the FRS/FRO network is challenging as many FRS/FRO's do not weigh the food donations they are receiving and distributing. With an investment in scales for the FRS/FRO's, ZWS and the jurisdictions in Sonoma County can more accurately know the true capabilities of the FRS/FRO network.
- Food safety training was identified as a need for 30% of the FRS/FRO network based on the survey. REFB also identified the need for food safety training for their partner FRS/FRO's. This training could be framed as coaching and a way to understand the FRS/FRO operations and needs by a food safety professional. Abound recommends ZWS and the jurisdictions in Sonoma County provide this training and coaching on an annual basis.
- Abound recommends working with the FRS/FRO network to identify third-party transportation resources and maximize shared resources between the network. Working with CCNB to provide additional logistics support and potentially utilizing their connections to bolster the FRS/FRO volunteer networks would provide some relief in logistical pressures.

- Administrative support will be needed to manage and oversee the education, outreach, relationship maintenance and general support of Tier 2 Generator participation. Abound recommends that more discussions surrounding who could fill this role need to be had with the Sonoma County Food Recovery Coalition. There seems to be opportunities for this group to provide feedback on whether they could oversee this position and what that might entail. There is also a potential partnership with Petaluma Bounty to assist with the role of administration based on their knowledge of the food recovery network in Sonoma County. This could also roll into their plans for an Emergency Food Recovery Program that they are currently developing.
- Based on Abound's analysis of the FRS/FRO discussions and survey responses Una Vida at Hillside Church, Catholic Charities, Farm to Pantry, Sonoma Food Runners, Bayside Church and FISH are valuable partnerships. They have identified the ability to increase their capacity to assist in servicing Generators.
 - REFB has also provided feedback on these FRS/FRO's and have confirmed that they are partnerships that are valuable in assisting with SB 1383 compliance.

Repurposing Kitchen Support

- REFB has an existing kitchen facility on site used to repurpose excess food into meals. Abound recommends providing funding to this kitchen operation to assist with the bulk food from Tier 1 Generators. Funding for expansion of REFB's food repurposing kitchen includes a mixer, automated packaging machine, vacuum packaging machine and blast chiller.

6.3 Long-Term Strategy (24+ months)

Overarching Program- Long Term

- The software will focus on the recovery from Tier 2 Generators and provide coordination and logistical assistance for the higher volume of businesses that must participate in food donation. The 24-month timeline to implement a food recovery software will allow for appropriate vetting and perhaps time for the industry to move to a user base fee structure which will allow more flexibility in the system.
- The continued support from third party logistics companies and cold storage facilities will be key in maintaining long term compliance and capacity for the FRS/FRO's as more Generators are onboarded into a food donation program. Abound recommends providing funding to CCNB to assist FROs in their logistic needs.
- Abound recommends the continued support of a third-party administrator to oversee the food donation and recovery program in the long term. An administrator would monitor compliance, assist in onboarding Tier 2 Generators, work with FRS/FRO's and consult with REFB and the jurisdictions.

- REFB identified the feasibility stages of a new facility. Abound recommends support from ZWS as they continue their study. Depending on the status of their potential new facility, ZWS and the jurisdictions within the County should discuss the benefits of the new facility and the impacts on servicing Tier 1 Generators.
- Abound recommends earmarking funds for a Program Coordinator to administer contracts, coordinate the donations from Tier 1 Generators, and communicate with the FRS/FRO network on their operations as new Generators implement their Food Donation Programs.

- Supplies are needed to assist in the sorting and recovering the increased food donations from Tier 1 Generators. Abound recommends continuous support, as needed, to help the food bank procure supplies that aid them in recovering, sorting, and distributing these donations in an efficient and safe manner.
- Abound recommends ZWS continue to support REFB in their repurposing kitchen operation efforts. This support would include providing funding for vacuum bags, containers, boxes and other necessary kitchen materials the kitchen needs to repurpose prepared food and bulk food items.
- Abound recommends funding the on-going costs associated with REFB's box truck, to include insurance, maintenance, fuel, and driver salary.

Food Repurposing Kitchens

- As the onboarding of Tier 2 Generators expands, more repurposing kitchens will be critical in the recovery of prepared food items. As REFB identified, the current FRS/FRO network is not currently capable of receiving all the prepared food items from Tier 2 Generators. Abound recommends the development of potential kitchen locations and culinary programs in strategic areas that have a large population of Tier 2 Generators with a low number of FRS/FRO's that are able to receive prepared food items.
 - This could include locations with existing kitchens such as restaurants, schools, or FRS/FRO's such as Committee on the Shelterless. Discussions regarding the process and procedures will need to be had to determine if current operations would allow for this expansion of services provided by whichever kitchen facilities are interested.
- An investment of $125,000 per additional kitchen location will be necessary to provide the kitchen with the equipment and supplies needed to begin production of nutritious meals.
- Each kitchen operation will require a kitchen coordinator to oversee the operations and communicate with other repurposing kitchens. This coordinator will assist in managing the distribution of these nutritious meals to the FRS/FRO network.
- Abound recommends engaging with the Culinary Institute of America and the culinary program at Santa Rosa Junior College. These culinary programs may be able to work with recovered food as part of their curriculum to learn culinary skills, as well as provide nutritious meals to not only those in their community but to students on campus in need.

Food Recovery Organizations/Food Recovery Services

- As the Tier 2 Generators onboard into food donation programs, needs for supplies and materials will increase as well. Abound recommends ZWS assist in providing the necessary supplies and materials needed to service the Generators. Supplies could include thermometers, freezer bags, freezer blanket, hand carts, tables, canopies, boxes, shelving, bags, paper towels, gloves, etc.
- Continued annual food safety training for FRS/FRO's.

6.4 Funding Recommendations

The funding recommendations have been provided based on the surveys of the Tier 1 and 2 Generators, the detailed assessment of the FRS/FRO's, and the information and documentation provided by the REFB.

6.5 Metric of Success

Throughout this study key factors were identified that will determine the success of Sonoma County's food donation program. While compliance with SB 1383's edible food recovery requirements was a large focus of this capacity study, Abound believes the recommendations in this report can provide a strong foundation for a long term successful program.

In establishing a County-wide food donation program, there will be a determinable and sustainable avenue for excess edible food outside of the waste stream and landfills. Ultimately, the metric of success will be:

- The positive environmental impact of reducing greenhouse gas emissions.
- The County's ability, through this program, to assist those suffering from food insecurity
- The ability to improve client's overall health conditions in partnership with the FRS/FRO's and healthcare providers.
- The creation of an effective and sustainable program.

This program should provide a foundation to increase the capacity to serve more people, receive more food otherwise destined for the landfill, support all entities with SB 1383 compliance, and assist those in the community impacted by food insecurity.

Factors and Challenges

- Geographic Considerations
 - County
 - REFB Operations
- Donor Education
 - Opportunity for Donation
 - Food Safety
- Tier 2 Generator Challenges
 - Administration
 - Logistics
 - Storage
 - Food Safety
- Pantries Need Support
 - Accurate Tracking of Food Donations
 - Logistics
 - Cold Storage
 - Space
 - Staff/ Volunteers
 - Data Tracking
- CCNB Logistics Program
- Oversight/Administration

Next Steps

- Receive any further comments/questions on report
- Discuss regional program in County
- Define role of ZWS and Jurisdictions
- Identify Program Administrator
- Coordinate with REFB/Pantries on Contracting
- Explore funding opportunities
 - Examples: General fund, tip fees, franchise fees, procurement fees, SB 1383, grants, engage additional stakeholders
- Begin SB 1383 Implementation
 - Education to Generators and Inspections

- Redwood Empire Food Bank
 - Tier 1 Onboarding
 - Driver and Vehicle
 - Equipment (pallet jacks)
 - Kitchen facility expansion support
- Pantries
 - Support supplies and materials identified
 - Accurate tracking with scales
 - 3rd party on-site food safety training
 - 3rd party transportation resources
 - Administrative support
 - Support of identified pantries with ability to increase capacity
- Food Repurposing Kitchen
 - REFB Kitchen facility expansion support
- Overarching Program
 - Defining ZWS role to the pantry network
 - Regional approach
 - Engaging non- traditional strategic partnerships
 - Solar- powered cold storage solutions
 - Food recovery software

Capacity Study Strategies

Long Term

- Redwood Empire Food Bank
 - ZWS support as the REFB conduct their feasibility study of a new facility
 - Program Coordinator
 - Supplies and materials
 - Continued support of the REFB repurposing kitchen
 - Continued support of REFB box truck
- Food Repurposing Kitchens
 - Additional repurposing kitchen locations
 - Supplies and equipment
 - Kitchen coordinator
- Pantries
 - Continued food safety training
 - Support supplies and materials
